Perforce Office Plug-In (P4OFC) [April-2022]

Perforce is known as a distributed version control system with rich collaborative features and was first released in 2003. Perforce is tightly integrated with Microsoft Office applications and databases allowing collaboration and sharing of your code within the shared repository. The Perforce Office Plug-In was developed to aid Office 2000/XP users and their developers to get started with the features of the Perforce Inc. version control system. It also provides access to the standard Perforce online interface with authentication. Office users can easily use the Perforce plug-in to add, edit, and delete documents in the Perforce server, and retrieve the latest version of a document. In addition, this plug-in allows users to undo last changes or restore the previous version of documents, and view files in Perforce from the interface of the Office application. The Perforce Plug-In can also act as a Perforce client to a Perforce Server and retrieve a version of a file stored on the server. P4OFC is able to perform multiple operations on a single document: add a new document, edit the document, or retrieve the latest version of a document. In addition, this plug-in also allows you to synchronize the latest version of a document with the version of the same document in Perforce Server, without having to migrate the document. P4OFC contains the functions to perform multiple operations on a single document, like the revision management. P4OFC also contains support for the menu items to carry out these operations. What is New In This Release: Addition of new documents into the Perforce Database Addition of the title of the document in the pre-header of the document Addition of the status indicator to the toolbar Addition of the Perforce Server URL from the Options menu Addition of the options to display file changelog in the pre-header of the document and also add the log to the help section Option to display multiple Perforce Repositories Option to display the log of the Perforce Repositories Addition of the URL of the Perforce Repository in the Help Section of the Plug-in Option to choose the Windows directory when extracting the file Addition of the option to schedule the plug-in to startup upon Office start-up Option to schedule the plug-in to shutdown upon Office shutdown Improving of performance Fixing some bugs Manual:
