Field of the Invention The present invention relates to a method for manufacturing a structure, and more particularly, to a method for manufacturing a silicon carbide micro-jet. 2. Description of the Prior Art Silicon carbide micro-jet has been widely used to fabricate micro-scale nozzles and micro-jets in the aerospace industry due to its superior properties, such as oxidation resistance, high temperature mechanical strength and high radiation tolerance. Compared with platinum jet, silicon carbide jet is more resistant to oxidation and more robust at high temperature. Currently, silicon carbide micro-jets with an effective cross-sectional area of 0.1 μm^3 to 10 μm^3 are manufactured in a silicon carbide micro-jet etching system, in which the silicon carbide jet is generated at a high temperature and moves freely in air through a small aperture. Since the temperature of the micro-jets is very high, a failure in the construction of 82138339de
