Programming in high-level languages (C++, VB, C) Author: User concealed the name, March 12, 2012 at 17:11, test work Job description With the help of Pascal programming language can create programs to solve problems of varying complexity. Typically, programs in Pascal are programmed using module Norm, allowing to solve problems related to the automation of calculations Now let's run the program. You will see two buttons in the window. They will be labeled "Start" and "Stop". With them you will be able to start and stop the program (in our example we will make cleanup). To clean the registry, press the "Start" button. A window will appear on the screen where you should press the "Continue" button. After this the cleaning will start. In this window you will see the process that will take place on your computer, as well as, in the process of cleaning, you will see the number of lines that will be cleaned.
