Prime Minister Narendra Modi on Saturday described the economic situation in the country as "unfortunate", but said his government is working relentlessly to move forward. Mr Modi's remarks came in response to mounting criticism from opposition parties for not taking a clear stand on the economic slowdown. He said he and the government are working on a new mission to move forward with a "big bang". On Friday, the finance minister said that India's economic growth is expected to remain below 7 per cent for the next five years. He said he was surprised at the opposition parties' criticism of his economic policies. "My government took many decisions. At that time, I said that sometimes governments have to make decisions that are difficult. I want to reiterate that we always take the country's economic progress in mind. We never overlook the interest of any section," Mr Modi said at an election rally here. "I am happy that no economic decision is being made without taking into account the welfare of the Indian people," he added. Mr Modi said that the opposition should instead focus on governance. "Everyone should focus on governance, not on me. I am ready to answer their questions on that," he said. He also said there has been "too much running away from the responsibilities of the previous regime." "The number of scams and frauds is much more compared to the previous government's term," he added. Target
