* Transferring files to and from other programs: You can upload files to Adobe® Photoshop® CS6 from other programs, such as Microsoft® Photo Story® 6 and Fireworks® CS5. If you already have a file on your system, you can also download files to your hard drive from other programs, such as Adobe® After Effects®, Fireworks®, and Illustrator® CS6. To transfer files, you insert them into the appropriate drop-down window on the File menu and then click Open. * Opening files: You can use Photoshop to open images, PDF files, and bitmap images from other programs. It can handle artwork, graphics, and even web design. This program has great vector editing features and a robust drawing tool for you to draw paths that look just like the vector images you produce in Illustrator® or another vector program. # SECURING PERMISSIONS TO VIEW FILES Even though Photoshop is a powerful program, as I note earlier, you can't open files if you don't have permission to do so. You can use them if you prefer. 4. If you want to see only

Is there one out there that works well (no jagged edges when wrapping text in large blocks of code)? A: There's SyntaxMarks (with.NET/Mono/Wpf) and ThinkSharp. They are excellent! A: I use NUSP, developed by Nathan Hurst. I've never had a problem with the formatting. A: has some links to online themers. Some are not free. Leading Priorities for the B-School of the Future When we are involved in something that we think we can transform the practice of education for the better, it's particularly exciting to know that there are other people out there who share our passion for the work we are doing and are willing to do that work together with us. Today, we're excited to announce that this week is a day we'll be celebrating with others like us at the World B-School Alliance. It's a huge step forward for us to be able to say it—and we understand that it means that as we put these pieces together over the coming weeks and months, we'll be in the spotlight on a global stage and on the cover of multiple outlets. We hope that we can continue to create forward momentum with our partners to share ideas that we think can do good and also drive some really important conversations. We've been learning a lot about the potential for education organizations to work together and pool resources. If you're not familiar with this, the World B-School Alliance is a network we've created with some of our partners to increase the possibilities for better B-schools and B-schools that are delivering more impact. Our first meeting was in March and we've been working out the details of that since then, as well as forging strong new links with our colleagues in Asia. Looking ahead, we'll be bringing together more of the tools that we're using in our collaborative work and will be able to expand our
