FIFA is the leading sports videogame brand, featuring the complete collection of professional football clubs from around the world, including England's Premier League, France's Ligue 1, Germany's Bundesliga and Spain's La Liga. Players make their own teams and take charge of all areas of club operations, whether competing in exhibition matches, tournaments or the season-long UEFA Champions League. What does the Edition Number Mean? The 'edition number' in the product title is a reference to the current product build - the game is identical across all platforms and all store versions unless otherwise specified (i.e. the EA SPORTS™ FIFA 20 Ultimate Edition, which includes FIFA 19 Ultimate Edition on PlayStation®4 and Xbox One™, FIFA 19 on Nintendo Switch™). What is new in FIFA 22? The Official Team of the FIFA World Cup™ is joined by the likes of Real Madrid and Manchester City in this year's edition of the FIFA 22 game. FIFA 22 includes the following features: Football Gameplay: Features include tweaking the core skills of the game, allowing for more precise dribbling, shooting and passing. Off the Ball Intelligence: Off the ball intelligence has been improved, allowing players to anticipate what their opponent will do before they do it. New Set Plays: More than 15 new set plays have been added, giving players more options for scoring and creating goals. New tactics give players more freedom of movement and off-ball intelligence, creating more opportunities for set pieces. Unlockable Transfers and Injuries: Players can now unlock a bigger variety of transfers and be informed about possible injuries. Leaderboards: Players can now compete with other players across the world with new leaderboards. Player Camps: New Player Cams allow players to make immediate visual changes to their on-field appearance. FIFA Street 2 engine: New more detailed crowds, the Stadium Pass System and the game's improved Physics engine. New Teams: In this year's game, Greece's national team, Welsh national team and Serbia's national team are joined by 24 teams from the previous editions of FIFA, giving a total of 1,246 players and real national team squads. Comment on FIFA 22 features EA SPORTS FIFA 20 - The Game They Made...
