Thank you, Bernie How the Pakistani Media Are Turning the 'White Widow' into the Hero of Pakistani Politics Share The recent death of Sajida al-Rishawi, the woman responsible for the 2007 Mumbai attacks, in a Pakistani jail has sparked an unexpected new conflict. The mainstream Pakistani press can hardly contain their excitement for the "White Widow," the tragic Saudi woman who has been turned into a national hero by the Taliban. They have promised, to the public at large and to their government, that they will keep the focus on her, that she will be the subject of a "national song," and that she will be a prime example of the success of the new trade deals with the United States. The mainstream press is jumping up and down. They cry out, "The 595f342e71
