View a Clipboard History and Manage Clips Management of text copying/cutting, evaluating and converting is one of the most important functions to many of us. Having something like "Capture Multiple Text", "Remove Duplicate Text" and "Convert to Title Case" features is an excellent software that can help. Capture Multiple Text Save and manage text copying history Move Clip to another Category Searching for the text you're looking for is a pain after copying or cutting, even if you make use of any search tool. In order to avoid this unpleasant problem, you can use a clipboard manager to manage text that you have copied or cut, keeping track of what you have done. Split Clip into Categories Make sure you have the exact copy of the clip, even if you accidentally cut a part of it. Keep the Clip in your Clipboard List You should keep the Clipboard History, so that you can edit and convert it if you are not satisfied with the last copy. Special Clipboard Examples: Paste the Clipboard History This is a clipboard manager that saves and manages the text that you have copied or cut using Windows. It keeps track of your saving history, converting it into a default code. Counter This is an app that comes with the Clipboard and counting tool. You can manage the work done on a computer in an easier way. You can save the clips in different categories, track the number of clips that you have managed and convert them to the text case. The default version is optimized to run on older operating systems, which is why it is not compatible with Windows 8 and Windows 10. View URL This is a free app that saves the data you enter and displays them in a web page. You can also share the URL with your friends or send them as email attachments. You can't convert the text to the most common case in the beginning, you can't preview the clipboard history nor can you convert the text in bulk. You may be thinking about leaving your job and starting your own business but there are many factors to consider when you decide to work for yourself. Making the decision to start your own business can be difficult, but it is often a great choice. No matter how confident you feel about starting your own business, you may still have doubts and questions along the way. It's OK to have doubts, and it's What's New in the?

* Capture and manage text clips with ease * Free memory and CPU consumption * Provides statistics information about the text data captured * Converts and merges multiple clips into a single one * Prints the text data in the clipboard * Examine the clip properties * Undoes accidentally deleted clips * Renames and deletes categories * Auto-scrolling with a double click * Customize the font type and size * Prints the text data in a web page * Converts the text case (lowercase, uppercase, title case) * Auto-save mode with a pause option * Clears the Clipboard Memory consumption is negligible, and 2 MB are needed for an active instance of the application. All in all, the application adds value to users who want to preserve the clipboard contents and to keep a backup of their work, while this app doesn't add an entry to the Windows registry, making it a safe and easy-to-use experience.Q: Are too many high reputation users bad for SE? My concern is that if I downvote a post for being off-topic I risk getting the reputation penalty for it. I also think this will encourage me to give more careful attention to high rep posts in order to avoid the reputation penalty. A: This might be true for questions, but I think it is a misconception that it applies to answers. The downvote should be a last resort. Even on SO, if I downvote an answer I try to let the OP know in a comment (and sometimes even a custom flag) what I thought was wrong with the answer. If you downvoted an answer you probably have a reason. I haven't experienced this being a problem at all. If you want to protect the site you have to guard your votes carefully, but on the other hand, don't abuse it and if you have a reason for a downvote, share that reason. Don't worry about the +100 points. In due time you might get it back. A: I think this is a good thing for the site. It's really easy to get discouraged and despondent on SO. It's easy to go 2 months without posting a question and then 5 minutes later, you want to post a question (or an answer) that's on-topic. That's not how reputation works. If you have a good reason to downvote
