Rostov-on-Don was the first city outside Russia to host the FIFA World Cup Final in 2018, making it the first Russian host city to host the final. Russia will also be the host city of the FIFA World Cup in 2018 and was the host city of the 2018 FIFA World Cup opening match between Russia and Croatia on June 14th. The launch trailer shows the game's new Rostov Arena, which will be used in FIFA 18, taking centre stage in the final game. This is the first time a FIFA World Cup host city is fully explored in-game, including the World Cup stadium and the cityscape.

Design and synthesis of a new oxa-diazolyl tetrazole derivative containing anticonvulsant activity and dual targets pharmacophores. A series of novel 7-benzoxadiazolyl tetrazoles were designed and synthesized from 5-substituted 3-acetyl-1,2,4-triazoles and ethyl 6-chloro-1H-benz[de]isoquinoline-3-carboxylate. These compounds were synthesized by bromination, cyclization and C-7 nitration of the starting material. The structures were confirmed by ¹H NMR, IR, MS, elemental analysis and X-ray crystallography. The obtained derivatives were tested for their anticonvulsant activity against maximal electroshock (MES) and subcutaneous pentylenetetrazol (scMet) models. The 1-ethyl-5-(2-methoxy-6-methylbenzoxadiazol-7-yl)tetrazole (13) was the most active compound against MES-induced seizure (ED₅₀=53.3 mg/kg; 56.6% protection at 300 mg/kg) and presented better free-radical-scavenging antioxidant effect and a higher elimination rate from brain (t_{1/2}=2.9h) compared to the two positive controls (diazepam and phenytoin), respectively. These results suggest that compound 13 could act as a dual-target pharmacophore against epilepsy. s i n - 2 3 5 3 * y * * 2 - 2 4 3 1 * y * * 2
