Attack on Indian army base in Kashmir. Anyone know what that part means? I mean, nobody said anything about the vote being rigged, but the number of votes was expected to be small. Wouldn't you think you would make sure the numbers were right before something as momentous as a national election? A: A vote for someone has been said to represent a death sentence to the person in question. The candidate who is "innocent" is presumably being accused of involvement in a conspiracy to commit some crime. Perhaps the gang involved in the conspiracy have committed prior murders. Therefore the vote of someone who is not involved in the conspiracy, and who is planning to vote for the innocent candidate is considered to be a death sentence for the person casting the vote. The relevant quote from this article by CNN is as follows: India's Supreme Court has heard arguments on whether to uphold its death sentence against Mohammad Ajmal Kasab, a Pakistani who has been sentenced to death for the 2008 Mumbai attacks. d0c515b9f4
