PhotoBox Export Plugin for Lightroom is a useful and reliable piece of software created to function as a plugin for Adobe Lightroom, allowing professional photographers to quickly upload the images they edit to their online printing service account automatically, saving both time and effort in the process. Evidently, to be able to successfully work with the tool, users will need to have a supported version of Lightroom installed on their system, which can range from version 2 to the latest issue. Similarly, a valid PhotoBox account is necessary. Subsequent to the completion of the setup process, users can access the PhotoBox Export Plugin for Lightroom from the 'Export' options in the 'File' menu. The next step consists of selecting the output destination, which, in this case, is Photobox, from a drop-down menu. The 'Your Account' section requires users to input their PhotoBox credentials, specifically login and password. They can even click the dedicated button to access the website in a web browser. In the 'Upload To album' section of the plugin, users can define the destination
