Been having strange problems with my iPhone since I got it in March in the UK. I've just got today's update and I can't get the 4.0 update to install, it just says it has to restore. It's only after the restore does the 4.0 option appear, but then when I click it it says it's not compatible. I've tried this on my home WiFi, and tried this on another phone on the same network. Anyone with a solution? Thanks in advance 11-07-2012, 06:35 AM xmatt Hi and welcome to the forum. First things first I would check your iTunes & iCloud accounts for the 4.0 update. Also let us know if you have backups available on iCloud or iTunes. If you have backups available log out of your account, click on your profile picture in the top right hand corner of the screen, then make sure that iCloud Backup has turned on, if it is currently off. It should be under your account settings. Log in and download any backups that you have. If this is not an option here is what I would try. Did you open the iTunes Store and update your information. If so this will remove your account from any notifications. Check you have iCloud Backup turned on or if not then download a backup of your iPhone. After doing all this make sure you are signed in to your iCloud account (By clicking on your Profile picture) and then try reinstalling the app by uninstalling, wait for the notification on the status bar that the update was successful. Then download the update.
