How do I access the rich text content of a tiled item when using the ItemFactory? I am attempting to achieve the following programmatically in WPF. Within an existing Windows Form app I have a ListView control (listView1). I am able to parse each row of the ListView into an instance of my custom class. This class contains a rich-text property that holds information about the row. I want to take this information, format it into a rich-text value, and display it within a TextBox. I have been successful at this, however I am now facing the conundrum of how to extract the information from the rich-text. This is the best method I have found so far. private void listView1_SelectionChanged(object sender, SelectionChangedEventArgs e) { ItemFactory factory = new ItemFactory(); var item = factory.Create(listView1.SelectedItems[0]); TextBox richText = this.CreateChildControl(); richText.Text 595f342e71
