The incidence of lymphoid malignancies in organ transplant recipients is reported to be increased compared to the general population. The pathogenesis of lymphoid malignancies in transplant recipients is multifactorial, but Epstein-Barr virus (EBV) and cytomegalovirus (CMV) have been implicated as causative agents. The incidence of EBV-positive lymphoid malignancies in transplant patients is very high and usually associated with the cytotoxic T-lymphocyte (CTL) deficiency observed in immunosuppression. The incidence of CMV infection is lower in solid organ transplant recipients compared to hematopoietic stem cell transplantation (HSCT) recipients, and CMV-associated lymphoproliferative disorder is very rare and generally seen in recipients of liver or lung transplants. Even though the survival rates of transplant recipients with hematologic and non-Hodgkin's lymphoma (NHL) are markedly improved, for NHLs in the transplant recipients, poor prognosis, usually including transformation to acute lymphoid leukemias, is noted in many cases. This review summarizes the incidence, clinical presentations, risk factors and treatment modalities of lymphoid malignancies in transplanted patients.Pages Friday, September 14, 2012 Patti Anderson - It's a Keeper To Me Patti Anderson is one of those artists who is so natural, so effortless. The verse on the song "It's a Keeper to Me" is just one of the many beautiful things about the song. The handclapping back and forth is so harmonious with the girl's voice. In addition to the handclapping, she is also harmonizing in this song with a looped guitar. The melody comes in at a very simple level. The chords change are so pleasant that you don't want to

However, for larger values of  $\eta$  the system is in the equilibrium ferromagnetic state. The magnetization is remarkably stable with respect to the variation of  $\eta$  for  $T \ll T_C$ . For  $T_C$  slightly below the experimental melting point  $T_m$ , Fig. 11 shows that there is a small hysteresis due to the coexistence of the easy axis ferromagnet
