activator 5.5 registration key.Q: UnityMobile Apps connect to Twitter/TwiTag/TwiAuth All right, so this is probably going to sound like a really silly question but I really want to get this working as it is for my university course. I'm trying to integrate my school's course blog onto Unity 3D. I'm new to Unity so please bear with me. I'm not looking to develop an application to automatically post to Twitter and to FB but rather to sign up/auth with a social network. I have created an application on Unity and have also installed the Twitter API and OpenTok (I have also created an IOS app which works perfectly) I have code that I got from a tutorial which I've tried to make the most of (mostly from the IOS example) "AppDelegate appDelegate = (AppDelegate)[[UIApplication sharedApplication] delegate];NSUserDefaults *defaults = [NSUserDefaults standardUserDefaults];NSURL *url = [NSURL URLWithString:defaults.stringForKey:@"TWITTER_LOGIN_URL"]; if ([url] { if([TWITTER_LOGIN_TOKEN length]) { TWTRAPIClient *apiClient = [[TWTRAPIClient alloc] initWithCredential:[appDelegate accessToken]]; [apiClient loginWithAccessToken:[appDelegate accessToken]]; } } else { [NSException raise:@"TwitterLogin" format:@"Unable to load the Twitter Login URL"];

NoticiasQ: Unable to launch SSH
I am using Kubuntu 14.04. I am trying to setup an OpenSSH client using the SSH client of the KDE desktop (Konsole). However, it throws the following error: Could not open connection to myserver.com:22: The server offered an SSH-2 publickey only. And so I proceeded to create it. It just fails as mentioned. I have placed the content to my.ssh file on my home directory. A: Make sure that your private key is in.ssh/id_rsa, a file with a.pub suffix. Not id_rsa.pub. In the general case, that's the private key. You may or may not have a.pub file in.ssh/id_rsa as well. Make sure that the file permissions are 644, or alternatively that the file itself is owned by you (chown -R $USER ~/.ssh), or is 0700 (chmod 0700 ~/.ssh). Edit: I had a chance to look at your file: It's not in the same directory as my answer.

The file has a.pub suffix, not.pub.pub. It is not readable either. Please ensure that the file is there at all: the server expects it. You may be able to run ssh-keygen -y to generate it, and then have your ~/.ssh/config point to that new file. Toggle navigation
