24.05.2008 the time is 5.00am. At the moment everything is fine. Only that the iMac has a blue screen on it and the program has frozen. It was working fine yesterday when I shut it down. I'm going to try something and come back and let you know what happens and whether this solved the problem or not. I'm hoping it did, for you all's sake and my sanity! A: I'm going to start by saying that this is not an error, at least not from a programming perspective. This error is generated by the operating system - specifically the Apple thermal management software on Macs. You can read a pretty good explanation of it here, but the short answer is that it's probably a hardware problem. Having said that, there are a couple things that you could try to help alleviate the situation: Try some different graphics card/CPU drivers - some GPUs can cause a lot of issues. If you have a MacPro, you can send it to Apple and they will do a repair. This may fix the problem for good, or at least just for a bit until it happens again.

Relationships among bone mineral density (BMD), body composition, and vitamin D in pre- and postmenopausal women. In the present study we investigated whether vitamin D levels were associated with BMD and with the body composition, assessed by bioelectrical impedance analysis (BIA). We studied 120 women aged 20 to 82 years (mean = 48.3 +/- 17.4). All were premenopausal (n = 80) or postmenopausal with (n = 40) or without (n = 60) hormone replacement therapy. Analysis of variance (ANOVA) and Pearson correlations were used to compare levels of 25-hydroxyvitamin D, BMD, and body composition. In postmenopausal women, the BMD was significantly higher in those receiving hormone replacement therapy (P
