Now the government has extended the ban to other products of the same makers, including the Apple iPad, Google Nexus 7 and more. As a result of the decision, the device makers have extended the ban to other countries like Canada, the UK, Germany, France and Sweden. The decision was made on the grounds of protecting the US economy. In fact, when the initial imports were banned the economic condition of the US was doing well. In January, the US made a similar decision on other devices, which was followed by a few more countries, including China and most recently Australia.
