Can someone offer some assistance. I need to create buttons to do the following: Click on one button, which will insert a link into the span html without closing the which the button is in. When you click again on the same button, it adds a span without closing the text it currently in. When you click a third time it removes the span that was added. I can't get a loop working here (think I'm a few steps off) Html: Text1 jquery: function addspan(spanname) { $("span").append("Text I want here"); } A: There is the Javascript addeventlistener method for that. It would look something like: Text1 function addspan(element) { var a = element.nextSibling; a.style.display = "block"; } Edit: Whoops, this won't work because the span is a child element. You need to find the span using the method element.parentNode.children function addspan(element) { var span = element.parentNode.children; span.style.display = "block"; } G_D)) \left(\varrho_t\textcircled{iota}\right)(g_2) + \tilde{\tau} (G_1\times G_2)\bigr)\ &=\Phi^\bigr[(1-G_1\times G_2)c_2(TX_t)\cdot(1-G_1\times G_2) + \tau(G_1\times G_2)\bigr]\ &=\Phi^(c_2(TX_t
