Intuitive and Lightweight Yahoo! Widgets. Configuration for the tightest look on the desktop. 8 adjustable mouse actions. Six different quotes per theme. Automatic quote rotation. No need to restart the program when you change themes. Lighter weight than other Yahoo! Widgets. Space is always available! Simple installation. Languages Supported English and Spanish (default). Why YSE is better than the others! Have you ever tried other widgets from Yahoo! Widgets Community and other websites? I am not too sure about most of them, but this one I definitely think that it is worth trying. If you look at the widgets list of the community, you will see some of them to be so expensive, so it is better if you install "this one." I always wonder why people only get the free stuff and not the paid. Sure I have never been paid for anything I have ever worked on, but I do my best work for free. Sure sometimes I wish I had money to keep working to keep my home and food for my family but I appreciate the opportunity that I work. What really really bugs me is when people get upset because they cannot use the free program as much as they want to. It seems whenever I have the time to update and add new games to my site I seem to be getting too busy to do so. Each time I load the site I want to put in a huge game but there isn't time to cover anything that I want to do. I had decided just to put in 2 more games this time around. So I update the site and add a handful of games. Except for the two games that I had planned on adding I don't even get them updated to the site. So what if the site doesn't have a billion registered users, I'm not concerned, it seems that people just expect free stuff. All that's not to say that my site isn't going to get updated again. In fact I have been planning on adding the double game since I started this site. I am not going to turn down the opportunity to add a free game. All I have to say is all the free games aren't much fun and they're not exactly relevant with the type of games that I like to play. I do not know if you know this but there was a website that had the best games

Office Space

Office Space is a lightweight Yahoo! widget whose purpose is to help you animate the looks of your screen by listening to various quotes from movies. You can deploy the gadget on all Windows versions out there, provided that you have the Yahoo! Widget Engine working environment installed on the target PC. Interactive design and a few tweaking parameters The gadget displays Milton's stapler from the movie Office Space directly on your desktop. What's more, you are allowed to move the main window to the desired position on the screen using drag-and-drop actions. It takes nothing more than a few clicks in order to get access to its GUI. A help manual is not embedded in the package. However, you can get an idea about how the widget works in a short amount of time because the dedicated parameters look straightforward. A right-click on the stapler allows you to check out the available configuration settings. Office Space comes bundled with several setup options of its own which give you the freedom to adjust the size of the stapler pretty quickly thanks to the built-in slider and make the gadget play random quotes or only those related to certain topics, such as 'Actual work,' 'Paying Bills,' 'Still have a job,' 'Worst idea,' 'Going to quit,' and 'I just don't care.' You only need to double-click on the stapler in order to make the widget say a movie quote. Office Space carries out tasks quickly and without errors. It provides very good output results. It is not a resource hog so you may keep it running in the background. Additional Yahoo! configuration tweaks allow you to keep the stapler on top of all windows, ignore all mouse events, prevent dragging actions, and alter the opacity of the main panel. Final ideas To sum things up, Office Space provides a fun way to listen to all sorts of movie quotes from the comfort of your screen, and can be handled by less experienced users and professionals alike.
